JURY TRIAL DEMANDED

BLUE OTTER LLC d/b/a BLUE OTTER
POLARIZED, a Georgia limited liability company,

Defendant.

CLASS ACTION COMPLAINT

Plaintiff Lance Webb (“Mr. Webb” or “Plaintiff”) brings this class action against Defendant Blue Otter LLC d/b/a Blue Otter Polarized (“Blue Otter” or “Defendant”), as to its “virtual try-on” feature on its website, www.blueotterpolarized.com, pursuant to the Illinois Biometric Information Privacy act, 740 ILCS § 14/1 et seq., and alleges, based upon personal knowledge as to herself and her own acts and experiences, and on information and belief as to all other matters based upon, inter alia, the investigation of counsel, as follows:

INTRODUCTION

1. This is a class action brought by an Illinois citizen against the Georgia-headquartered company Blue Otter for collection without prior consent of the face geometry data of Plaintiff and a potential class of other visitors to Blue Otter’s website who used the Virtual Try-On feature.

2. The Illinois General Assembly passed the Biometric Information Privacy Act of 2008, 740 ILCS § 14/1 et seq. (“BIPA”) in response to the increasing prevalence and proliferation of collection of biometric information without prior consent.

3. BIPA recognizes that biometric information is “unlike other unique identifiers that are used to access finances or other sensitive information,” in that it cannot be changed and is “biologically unique to the individual.” 740 ILCS § 14/5(c). In contrast to a compromised social security number, which can be changed, an individual whose biometrics are compromised “has no recourse” and “is at heightened risk for identity theft.” Id. The General Assembly noted that “[t]he full ramifications of biometric technology are not fully known.” Id. § 14/5(e). Therefore, “[t]he public welfare, security and safety will be served by regulating the collection, use, safeguarding, handling, storage, retention, and destruction of biometric identifiers and information.” Id. § 14/5(f).

4. In addition to a fingerprint or voiceprint, BIPA’s definition of “biometric identifiers” includes “a scan of hand or face geometry.” Id. § 14/10.

5. “Biometric information” is “any information, regardless of how it is captured, converted, stored, or shared, based on an individuals’ biometric identifier and used to identify an individual.” Id.

6. Through the Virtual Try-On feature, visitors to Blue Otter’s website—including Plaintiff and the other Class members—can see what they would look like wearing different of Defendant’s sunglasses products. All a user must do is enable his or her computer or device camera to take a photo to be used by the website or upload a photo to the website.

7. But, unbeknownst to the website user—including Plaintiff and the other Class members—Defendant collects detailed and sensitive biometric identifiers and information, including complete face geometry scans, of its users through the Virtual Try-On feature, and it does this without first obtaining their consent, or informing them that this data is being collected.

8. In addition, and in direct violation of BIPA, Defendant does not provide users with a schedule setting out the length of time during which their biometric information or biometric identifiers will be collected, stored, used, or will be destroyed.

PARTIES

9. Plaintiff Mr. Webb is, and at all times relevant hereto was, a natural person and a permanent resident of the state of Illinois. He is 41 years old, has lived in Chicago, Illinois for 7 years and has lived in the State of Illinois his whole life. On approximately 3 to 4 occasions in or about June or July 2022, from his home in Chicago, Illinois, Mr. Webb used Blue Otter's Virtual Try-On feature on www.blueotterpolarized.com on his iPhone and iPad via the Safari browser, to see how sunglasses products would look on his face. He never bought a product from Blue Otter.

10. Defendant Blue Otter is a limited liability company organized and validly existing under the laws of Georgia, with its headquarters and principal place of business at 2061 Experiment Station Road, Suite 01, PMB 440, Watkinsville, GA 330677. Blue Otter conducts business throughout the United States, including in this District. Blue Otter sells its products through its website, and at retail stores throughout the United States and Illinois.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

11. The Court has jurisdiction over this action pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d), because the members of the putative class are of diverse citizenship from Defendant, there are more than 100 members of the putative class, and the aggregate amount in controversy exceeds $5,000,000, exclusive of costs and interest.

12. The Court has personal jurisdiction over Defendant because Defendant has purposefully availed itself of the privilege of conducting business in the state of Illinois, by providing its online virtual try-on feature for customers in Illinois and using it to collect biometric data from Illinois residents while they were in Illinois.

13. Venue is proper in this District pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391 because a substantial part of the events, omissions, and acts giving rise to the claim occurred in this District. Moreover, Plaintiff resides in this District.

FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

14. Blue Otter sells sunglasses products at brick-and-mortar retail shops throughout the United States and Illinois and through its website www.blueotterpolarized.com.

15. Blue Otter's website explains and advertises that its sunglasses are designed for "all-day comfort,"¹ for fashion ("fashionable lifestyle frame to compliment [sic] a trending style"²), and for better performance in sports like fishing,³ golf ("Our Golf lenses use LightPro Technology® to highlight the contours of the greens, increasing contrast so you can properly read the field."⁴), and duck hunting.⁵

16. Defendant offers the Virtual Try-On feature to customers who visit its website.

² <https://blueotterpolarized.com/collections/cumberland> (last visited Feb. 23, 2023).

⁵ <https://blueotterpolarized.com/pages/blue-otter-duck-lens> (last visited Feb. 23, 2023).

17. While a consumer navigates to any page within Blue Otter’s website, the “VIRTUAL TRY-ON” logo appears in a circle in the bottom left of the screen in the foreground, inviting the user to click.⁶

18. If the user clicks on the “VIRTUAL TRY-ON” link, the user’s computer webcam or device camera is automatically activated, so that his or her real-time image appears immediately, and the user sees his or her face. Within the Virtual Try-On window, the user can navigate to a menu of sunglasses products and see what each one will look like on his or her face. As the user turns his or her face in any direction, the sunglasses are still shown on the face as if being worn. There is an option to take a snapshot of what the Virtual Try-On shows, and to download it or share it on Facebook.

19. Defendant lacks a publicly available written policy establishing a retention schedule and guidelines for permanently destroying biometric identifiers or biometric information obtained from consumers, as required by BIPA.

⁶ See, e.g., <https://blueotterpolarized.com/pages/about-us>; <https://blueotterpolarized.com/collections/oconee>; <https://blueotterpolarized.com/pages/30-day-free-return> (all last visited Feb. 23, 2023).

20. Upon information and belief, Defendant has not developed a written policy establishing retention schedules and guidelines for permanently destroying consumers' biometrics and does not destroy such data within the timeframes established by BIPA.

21. Approximately 3 to 4 times in or about June or July 2022, from his home in Chicago, Illinois, Plaintiff Mr. Webb visited www.blueotterpolarized.com via the Safari browser on his iPhone and iPad and used the Virtual Try-On feature to try on sunglasses products he was interested in.

22. Each time, after trying on the product, Mr. Webb decided not to purchase it. As such, Mr. Webb did not set up an account on the website.

23. When Mr. Webb used the Virtual Try-On feature, Defendant captured and collected his face geometry data. The Virtual Try-On feature could not have provided the advertised experience if Defendant did not capture and collect Mr. Webb's face geometry.

24. Mr. Webb has never been informed of the specific purposes or length of time for which Defendant collected, stored, or used his face geometry; any biometric data retention policy developed by Defendant; or whether Defendant will ever permanently delete his biometric data.

CLASS ALLEGATIONS

25. Plaintiff brings this action pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23 individually and on behalf of the following Class:

All natural persons whose biometric identifiers were captured by Defendant through use of the Virtual Try-On features on www.blueotterpolarized.com, while residing in Illinois.

26. Excluded from the Class are Defendant, their parents, subsidiaries, affiliates, officers, and directors, all persons who make a timely election to be excluded from the Class, the judge to whom this case is assigned and any immediate family members thereof, and the attorneys who enter their appearance in this action.

27. Numerosity: The Class members are so numerous that individual joinder of all Class members is impracticable. Upon information and belief, the Class exceeds 10,000 persons. The precise number of Class members and their identities are unknown to Plaintiff at this time but may be determined through discovery. Class members may be notified of the pendency of this action by mail and/or publication through the records of Defendant.

28. Commonality: There are numerous questions of law and fact common to the Class, including but not limited to:

a. Whether Defendant captured, collected, stored, or distributed information that qualifies as “biometric information” or “biometric identifiers” of users of the Virtual Try-On Feature on Blue Otter’s website, as defined by 740 ILCS §§ 14/10 & 14/15;

b. Whether Defendant failed to put in place a system or prompt to obtain an executed written release from users of Blue Otter’s Virtual Try-On feature before capturing their biometric information and biometric identifiers;

c. Whether Defendant developed or made publicly available a written policy establishing a retention schedule and guidelines for destroying its Virtual Try-On feature users' biometric information and biometric identifiers;

d. Whether Defendant’s conduct was and is willful, reckless, or negligent;

e. Whether Defendant is liable for damages, and the amount of such damages;

f. The appropriate injunctive relief to which Plaintiff and the other Class members are entitled.

29. Typicality: Plaintiff's claims are typical of the claims of the Class members, as they are all based on the same factual and legal theories.

30. Adequacy of Representation: Plaintiff is a representative who will fully and adequately assert and protect the interests of the Class and has retained competent counsel.

31. Declaratory and Injunctive Relief. Rule 23(b)(2) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure: Defendant has acted or refused to act on grounds generally applicable to Plaintiff and Class members, thereby making appropriate declaratory relief, with respect to the Classes as a whole.

32. Plaintiff seeks preliminary and permanent injunctive and equitable relief on behalf of the entire Class, on grounds generally applicable to the entire Class, to enjoin and prevent Defendant from engaging in the acts described above, such as continuing to collect users' face geometry data through the Virtual Try-On feature.

33. Unless a Class-wide injunction is issued, Defendant will continue to commit the violations alleged and the members of the Class will continue to have their biometric information collected in violation of Illinois law.

34. Superiority: In this lawsuit, a class action is superior to all other available methods for its fair and efficient adjudication because individual litigation of the claims of all Class members is economically infeasible and procedurally impracticable. This proposed class action presents fewer management difficulties than individual litigation, and provides the benefits of single adjudication, economies of scale, and comprehensive supervision by a single court. Class treatment will create economies of time, effort, and expense and promote uniform decision-making.

35. Predominance: Common questions of law and fact predominate over any questions affecting only individual Class members. Similar or identical violations, business practices, and injuries are involved. Individual questions, if any, pale by comparison, in both quality and quantity, to the numerous common questions that dominate this action. If Defendant captured Plaintiff's and Class members' biometric identifiers, then Plaintiff and each Class member suffered damages by that conduct.
